

problem-specific PI (math)

each example has its own hidden parameter I_i , so the solution spaces of internalizable models tend to isolate shared / similar PI (prompt internalization & alignment) a shared hidden parameter I induces cross-post distances low, making the solution space

